HOME COMING AT AMBOY ON JULY FOURTH

Great Celebration is Being Planned by Citizens There

The board of directors of the Amboy fair association today announced plans for a monster celebration and the first annual homecoming for Amboy to be held at the Lee County Fair grounds on July 4. The affair is to be widely advertised and doubtless will be the largest celebration to be staged in northern Illinois on that day.

Amboy business men are outlining a program by which it is expected to bring hundreds of former residents to that city for the homecoming event. Plans are also being outlined for the holding of a historic pageant at the fair grounds which will depict early Rock River Valley history, with Father John Dixon operating the ferry across Rock River. Historic events surrounding the early activities in the vicinity of Rockford, southwest of Amboy, may also be presented as part of the pageant.

Tentative Program
The program which has not been completed, provides for a monster parade through the streets of Amboy in the morning, terminating at the fair grounds. An athletic program will follow with contests open for all ages, with the awarding of prizes to the winners. In the afternoon, racing will be the feature attraction. Coolidge Amos Bosworth of this city is in charge of the racing and it is expected that the program will consist of three harness races and a running race.

An old fashioned balloon ascension has been arranged for the afternoon. Vaudeville acts will be presented between 1 and 2 o'clock. The racing program with a display of daylight fireworks. In the evening, a vaudeville entertainment will be presented on the big stage in front of the grand stand. To be followed by the latest exhibition ever presented in Amboy. Band concerts will also be furnished during the afternoon and evening.

The Scripps-Howard organization issued a statement saying that the management contemplates no radical changes in the editorial content of the paper. The present staff will be taken over in its entirety.

COOLIDGE'S PLEA GIVEN FAVORABLE RECEPTION ABROAD

Further Disarmament is Considered by the Greater Powers

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—President Coolidge's proposal to further limitation of naval armament appears to have found the maritime powers in a receptive mood.
First impressions as reflected in news dispatches from abroad indicate that the President's plan to discuss the question next month at Geneva, probably will be accepted but that specific methods of limitation will have to be left for determination by the conference itself.
Responsible officials of both the British and Japanese governments are quoted as agreeable to a discussion of the subject broached by the President, but not certain that his suggestion for extension of the 5-5-3 ratio to all classes of warcraft can be accepted in advance.

Two Reserve Opinions
France and Italy, the other two nations to whom the proposal was addressed, are reserving decision but they are not expected here to refuse to discuss limitation should the other powers agree to such a discussion.
The immediately favorable reaction in London and Tokyo apparently did not surprise officials here although they still professed to be without official advice.
As a more definite indication of foreign opinion is awaited, the situation in Washington remains quiet. Most of the leaders in congress approve the President's proposal, although their discussions are colored by some expressions of doubt whether anything tangible will come out of the deliberations at Geneva.

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—While official comment from abroad is awaited, there has been a general informal outpouring in press, official and other circles approving of the purpose behind President Coolidge's proposal to the great naval powers to supplement the Washington capital ship disarmament accord of 1921 with an agreement to restrict the building of lighter warcraft.
The President's note placing the new proposition before the world, made public yesterday at the same time he delivered a special message to congress on the subject, has been delivered by American diplomatic officers to the foreign offices of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, where foreign news dispatches say a thorough study of it will be made before any comment is forthcoming.
Meanwhile the reaction at Geneva, where League of Nations disarmament discussion will be renewed next month, is generally favorable, although doubt is expressed as to whether France and Italy and even Great Britain will agree to negotiate an agreement restricting construction of cruisers, destroyers and submarines unless military and aviation problems are dealt with in the same accord.

Japan Will Accept
Tokio, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Rengo, the Japanese news agency, learned officially today that the Japanese government already has decided to accept the proposal of President Coolidge suggesting a new conference for the reduction of naval armament and it is expected a reply to the President's message will be forwarded to Washington soon.

SEEK MORE LIGHT ON BRUTAL DEATH OF INDIANA WOMAN

Headless Body Found in River at South Bend Yesterday

BULLETIN
South Bend, Ind., Feb. 11.—(AP)—The St. Joseph river today failed to yield the head and arms of a woman whose torso and legs were found in the river near St. Mary's College and Academy, two miles north of South Bend. Police and newspapermen are still dragging the waters and will continue the search for several days if necessary.

The latest theory in connection with the efforts to identify the body is that the woman may have been Mrs. Lory Price of Marion, Ill., whose husband was slain in the Shelton-Birger gang war. This theory was based on the assumption that an attempt had been made to destroy both bodies by the use of quick lime.
There, in a tiny cove where the river touches the grounds of St. Mary's College for girls, East Rapp, a South Bend fireman, and Frank Dolde, yesterday found the headless body of a woman, arms and shoulders to the fifth rib, with both legs broken at the hips and bent back, the heels touching the thighs and tied with cord.
The search today was upstream along both banks, for missing parts of the body. Other searchers went in boats up and down the shallow stream, dragging its bed.
At police headquarters, reports of missing women were studied. Seventeen women have been reported missing in South Bend in the last nine months.

Time of Death Uncertain
The woman might have met death four months ago, examining physicians said, but because of the condition of the body, which had been sprinkled with lime, the time of death was uncertain.
The most common theory was that the body had been placed in a box which was thrown into the river from one of the several bridges spanning the St. Joe between South Bend and Elkhart, Ind.
Coroner Reisel, who expressed the opinion that the woman had been murdered, said the torso had been severed at the fifth rib by someone skilled in dissection. There are no medical schools hereabouts and clothing found clinging to the body also tended to contradict the medical school theory, in his opinion.
The victim was described as a woman of about 30 years, five feet eight inches in height and weighing about 160 pounds.
A thorough examination of the body was planned today.
Last night physicians found indications that the woman was to have become a mother. Laboratory tests will be made to determine if poison was administered.

Bride-to-be Arrives in Time to Lose Intended
Chicago, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Muriel Oakes Ames, who was married to Robert Ames yesterday, and Miss Helene Lambert, who came to Chicago to become the actor's bride, occupied apartments at the same northside hotel today.
Ames, twice divorced, eloped to Waukegan with Miss Oakes, New York society girl, returning to play the leading part last night in "The Married Man" and to give out one of three statements in the triangular drama of real life.
"Why, why—I'm dumbfounded. Surely it can't be true," Ames declared when informed that Miss Lambert has been quoted as saying she came here from New York expecting to marry him yesterday. "Miss Lambert is an old friend of mine. I thought she just came out to say 'hello' and wish us luck in our new play. It's frightfully embarrassing—really."

Elgin, Minn., Student Hanged Self Yesterday
Elgin, Minn., Feb. 11.—(AP)—George Christensen, 16 year old high school student, hanged himself here yesterday. The body was found by his mother. The parents were unable to assign any motive for their son's action. He was a member of the Elgin high school basketball team and was prominent in athletics and other school activities.

DEBATE ON FARM RELIEF MEASURE IN BOTH HOUSES

McNary-Haugen Bill is Bone of Contention in Congress Now

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—With the southern democratic vote still in doubt and speculation rife as to whether President Coolidge would sign it if passed, the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill faced the senate today for approval of rejection.
Meanwhile another day of debate on the measure was promised in the house which expects to reach a vote some time next week.
As plans went ahead for pre-roll call debate in the senate, conferences were continuing in an effort to smooth out differences as to whether the bill's equalization tax to control basic crop surpluses should be withheld from cotton for two years.
Chairman McNary of the agriculture committee had announced that an agreement had been reached with southern senators to vote for the measure which carries a levy on cotton postponed and the Helms insurance plan substituting for it during the two year exemption period.
Debate proceeded in an orderly manner yesterday in both houses with supporters in the house predicting passage.
Claims Lowden Move
That the measure was a vehicle to place Frank O. Lowden former governor of Illinois in the White House, was contended by Representative Tinsler, republican, Kansas, who led the administration's fight on the bill.
Representative Aswell of Louisiana, ranking democrat on the agriculture committee, predicted the president would sign the bill, then place it before the supreme court where it would lay waiting interpretation as to its constitutionality until after the 1928 elections.
Opening the senate debate today Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, assailed "special privileges allowed the United States Steel Corporation" and declared 24 bids, now in New York Harbor, have not been permitted to discharge their cargoes because it would hinder business of the corporation. He complained that President Coolidge had not made public a report by the tariff commission on the steel industry.

WANT TO TALK TO ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, WALES? YOU CAN HAVE WISH TOMORROW FOR $78

Want to talk to some friend in England, Scotland or Wales? Perfectly simple to do so tomorrow if you'll simply call the Dixon Home Telephone Co., long distance operator, at once and let her make arrangements for your conversation by radio-telephone sometime between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. tomorrow.
Oh yes, there's that other detail of telephone service to consider—the pay. Very simple. You can talk three minutes for $78 and each additional minute will cost you $25—but you can't spend over $312 for your European telephone conversation, for the service is limited to twelve minutes to each individual. A report charge of $10—to tell you your party in England, Scotland or Wales can not be reached—will be made.
All of which means that the Dixon Home Telephone Co. was this morning advising that calls to the three European countries could be accepted for service tomorrow. Because of the short notice the local company expects to be able to handle its European calls with the regular force and will not put on any extra operators tomorrow.

RADIO CONTROL LEGISLATION IN UNCERTAIN PLACE

Conference Bill Faces Serious Opposition in Both Houses

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Radio control legislation admittedly is in a dangerous position in the senate. Final action on it at this session—adoption of the conference report already approved by the house—appears now to depend almost solely upon the ability of leaders to wear down the opposition at night sessions. The compromise bill written by house and senate conferees has been sidetracked still after the vote on the McFadden branch banking bill late next week, but proponents then will seek to make it the unfinished business.
Senators are being deluged with telegrams for and against favorable action. Even the chief of the senate pages has not escaped the outpour. One telegram from Geneseo, Ill., addressed to him said:
"Please knock pending radio bill."
Another from Savannah, Ill., said: "Kill conference report radio bill."
Painstaking
"Mr. Edison is a keenly intelligent man with inexhaustible energy, whom no obstacles can stop. He arrives at results by indefatigable pains. In his work on the storage battery, he made and recorded 50,000 experiments, before succeeding.
"If the world has given Edison credit for more genius than he has, it has also given him credit for less honesty. Many rumors have been in circulation that he used the ideas of his assistants with proper payment.
"Inventions His.
"This," says Bryan, an indefatigable calumny. Every man who has worked with Edison agrees that he, and he alone, is responsible for 99 per cent of all inventions the factories produce.
"There can never be another Edison. He came, with all his energy and brilliance, at a time when America was ready for him, when the new wealth after the Civil War demanded industrial outlets. The grid is said to have been his invention.
"His name on a product is like sterling on silver.
"If he does not stand with Weir and Newton, he stands alone—the ideal workman of the ages."

Mrs. Eva Clark announced today. The girl is said to have been in Waterloo, Iowa a letter from her received by the mother recently was postmarked Rockford, Ill.
Miss Frances Edwards will go to Chicago in the morning to remain over the week-end.

Biographer Says History Will Give Him Proper Rating

West Orange, N. J., Feb. 11.—(AP)—A small percentage of all the facts known about the man favors immortality, Thomas A. Edison, the wizard of Menlo Park, said today on his 80th birthday, in reply to questions on whether he had changed his views regarding immortality.
"The word God has no meaning to me," he said, "but I believe there is a man dies the swarms of billions of highly organized entities which live in the cells, desert the body, go out onto space and keep on and enter another and last cycle and are immortal."
"I have not changed my views on immortality," he added.

Drove Around in Flyover
Wearing a newly cleaned blue worsted suit with a red rose on his coat, the Wizard, accompanied by his old friend Henry Ford, who worked for him in East Orange years ago, drove up the Edison plant in one of Mr. Ford's low priced cars made in 1922.

Last summer Mr. Edison named this car "Gustave Adolphus," in honor of the Swedish Crown Prince.
"They need a manager, they all want to do different things," shouted the richest man in the world to the Wizard when photographers scrambled here and there attempting to pose the celebrities in a dozen different positions.

By NEA Service.
Brookfield Center, Conn., Feb. 11.—This man Edison, who is 80 years old today, coming centuries will estimate him, where the 20th century only adores.

And they will place him, not among scientists at all, but among the great pragmatic inventors of history, says George S. Bryan, author of the latest Edison biography.
No man has been more misrepresented to the public, or more blind ly worshipped, Bryan believes. "No man has been the victim of so many wild fantastic tales and misconceptions."
Once the mists of superstition have been dispelled, the world will see its hero as he is—a man of marvelous inventive genius, who never gave up a moment's thought or work to pure science in his life!

No Scientist.
"The ways of the scientist are not Edison's ways," says Bryan. "He would never follow trails into truth unless he could see a goal of practical utility ahead. He has spent no great amounts of money on abstract investigation, developed no great scientists in incomparable laboratory.
"He cares nothing about truths that cannot be made to earn their own living in a common-sense world. He places invention above science, and says so.
"I am a good workman," he has often said. "I turn out perfect products. I don't fool around with abstractions."
"And there lies the secret of his present standing.
"When he thought the Edison storage battery imperfect, he withdrew it from the market and shut down his factory, until he could locate the trouble and make a new design.
"On the other hand, Edison has dropped many a successful product because he could see no commercial value in it. He has made mistakes in dropping some of his most notable motion picture camera, which seemed so useless to him that he never bothered to invent a projecting machine.
"Then, there was the radio, which he dropped after his first successful experiments, because he had no faith in its commercial value. And the X-ray machine, which he gave up, because of its limited market."
Edison has been good at mathematics. His one university-trained partner, Francis Upton, now dead, supplied all mathematics for the work.
The famous sixth sense, with which Edison is credited, is another figment of the imagination, Bryan believes.

Painstaking.
"Mr. Edison is a keenly intelligent man with inexhaustible energy, whom no obstacles can stop. He arrives at results by indefatigable pains. In his work on the storage battery, he made and recorded 50,000 experiments, before succeeding.
"If the world has given Edison credit for more genius than he has, it has also given him credit for less honesty. Many rumors have been in circulation that he used the ideas of his assistants with proper payment.

Railway Executive Killed in Fall in Western Hospital

San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Edward W. Chambers of Chicago, vice president of the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad, plunged four stories to his death from a hospital window here early today after having been seized with what apparently was a fit of temporary insanity.
Mr. Chambers, who was one of the best known railroad executives in the United States, entered the hospital about ten days ago for a minor operation. He was reported to have been making normal progress in convalescing.
Mr. Chambers had been with the railroad company for 45 years and was 65 years old.

Commonwealth Edison Co. Assumes Income Taxation
Chicago, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Federal income taxes paid by bondholders of the Commonwealth Edison Company, are being reimbursed to the bondholders by the company in certain cases. A notice today from the company says that the semi-annual interest due March 1, 1927 on the first mortgage gold bonds of the Commonwealth Edison Company is payable at the Illinois Merchants Trust Company, Chicago, or at the Bankers Trust Company, New York and adds that where provisions of the federal income tax law require a tax against the bondholder to be deducted from such interest such deduction would be made good by the company.

CERTIFICATES, CHECKS FOUND BY DIXONITES

Evidently Thrown Out of Car by Thieves Passing Through

Checks and certificates of deposit, totalling more than a thousand dollars, which have been picked up on Galena avenue in the vicinity of Fourth street during the past few days, today developed to be a part of the loot of a band of bold robbers who early Monday morning, held up the Blue Goose road house in Tazewell county across the river from Peoria, and escaped with approximately $30,000 worth of cash and jewelry. The finding of the discarded papers in the streets of Dixon, turning the sheriff's office in Tazewell county of the first clew as to the direction the bandits took after their daring invasion.

Several Dixonites are holding some of the papers, which are believed to have been taken at the time of the robbery early Monday morning. Deputies from the office of Sheriff Ward T. Miller, who started the investigation last evening, and the sheriff's office at Pekin are satisfied that the band of robbers passed through this city probably about 6 o'clock Monday morning and it is the general belief that they were headed toward Rockford.

Several Have Papers
John Glesner, Peoria avenue grocer, picked up certificates of deposit and checks which total $600; Ollie Starks, employed at the I. N. U. hydro plant and Harry Long, truck driver for the Inde-Penn Oil company, have certificates of deposit in the sum of $100 each; Erick Gerdes, 509 Galena avenue, picked up certificates of deposit for one and two hundred dollars in front of his home.

All of the certificates of deposit are made to the order of Du Lac, a well known Peoria, Ill., being made payable to the account of J. E. Davis and bearing the signature of William W. Baxter. The sheriff's office at Pekin this morning stated that the J. E. Davis, whose name appears on the certificates, was the proprietor of the Blue Goose gaming house.

A check which is in Mr. Glesner's possession is on a State Trust and Savings bank of Peoria blank check in the sum of 100 which is drawn, payable to cash and has two signatures. This piece of paper has the appearance of having been wet at some time, which has almost obliterated the first signature, but the second is that of "George Parks" or "Parker." This is believed to have been taken from one of the games which was said to be in progress when the bandits entered the place and the certificates of deposit are thought to have been taken from the office of J. E. Davis, said to be the owner and proprietor of the resort.

Headed for Rockford?
It is believed that the bandits in passing through Dixon, probably at day break Monday morning, began sorting out their loot and discarding papers which could not be turned in to money readily without arousing suspicion. They are believed to have come from Mendota to Dixon on route 2 and evidently threw out a number of the papers near the Inde-Penn filling station at the corner of Fourth street and Galena avenue.

Rumors which became current following the daring robbery, laid the act to Chicago gunman, but this theory is disregarded to some extent today and it is the belief that the party was made up of Peoria, Ill., officers from Pekin, the county seat of Tazewell county were expected to arrive here this afternoon to take up the investigation.

They had to work hard for the game. The Brown players are improving greatly in their attack and their team has been substantially strengthened by the addition of Pavreau. The J. N. U. team won the game by a score of 31 to 12.

The second game was between the J. N. U. Company and the American Body & Cab Company. Cab-builders laughed at the J. N. U. team to hold the check. The J. N. U. team was defeated but the Cab-builders broke up many a good play.

The third game of the evening was the tightest, between the Reynolds Wire Screen Company and the Highway Department. This game was close, the first half ending 4 to 5 in Reynolds' favor. In the second half the Screen makers took a more decided lead and held it to the end, winning the game by a score of 15 to 9.

OLD MASTERS

I am a part of all that I have met;
And all experience is an arch where-through Gleams that untravelled world, whose margin fades
For ever and for ever when I move.
How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rest unburnished, not to shine in use!
As though to breathe were life.
Life piled on life,
Were all too little, and of one to me
Little remains; but every hour is saved
From that eternal silence, something more,
A bringer of new things; and vile
it be,
For some three suns to store and
hoard myself,
And this gray spirit yearning in desire
To follow knowledge like a sinking star,
Beyond the utmost bound of human thought.
Tennyson: From "Ulysses."

Mrs. Coolidge "a Dear" Clerks in Washington Stores Declare

EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Toussaint Dubois, Washington society girl and writer, saw Mrs. Coolidge starting on a shopping trip in Washington. She wondered just what sort of a shopper the "first lady" was. She found out—and in this narrative tells readers of The Telegraph. Miss Dubois is a daughter of former Senator Fred T. Dubois of Idaho, and is an intimate friend of many notable persons in Washington.

BY TOUSSAINT DUBOIS

(Copyright 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)
Washington—Would you like to follow Mrs. Calvin Coolidge on a shopping trip about Washington? If so, come ahead—first preparing to do some rather fast walking.

As a shopper, Mrs. Coolidge loses little time except when she stops to examine an attractively decorated show window, or to pet a friendly dog.

I observed as much when I spotted Mrs. Coolidge on a trip to some of the downtown Washington stores. I learned, too, that she is a "good shopper" from the viewpoint of the Washington clerks. She knows what she wants, and buys it without fuss or furbelows.

She doesn't "paw over" everything in the store, as many shoppers are accused of doing. "She's a dear!" the clerks all agree.

There was a secret service escort along as Mrs. Coolidge left the White House grounds, walking eagerly and zestfully.

She constantly smiled or laughed as she conversed with her companion. An alert interest in the sidewalk crowds as well as the show windows made it plain that to the "first lady," a shopping trip is an adventure.

Attracted by a window filled with a new display of portraits of Washington debutantes and society matrons, she turned in and examined each one. She particularly admired a large and beautiful portrait of Baroness Martin, the wife of the Italian ambassador, and one of Princess Ida Cantuzene, one of this season's debutantes.

As he went on, her athletic stride covered many blocks in an incredibly short time.

Finally, in her brisk march, she halted at a department store. With thoughtful concentration she studied the window. It was a window of shoes of all sorts, enticingly arranged.

Mrs. Coolidge quickly decided what she wanted. She walked into the store and made her purchase—brown alligator calf oxfords, size five double A.

It was done so quickly that the clerk did not recognize his customer until she strode the change slip.

"Gee, she acts natural!" he exclaimed.

Back on the main floor, Mrs. Coolidge approached the hosiery counter. A young girl was looking at sport hose, and evidently did not recognize Mrs. Coolidge. The "first lady" addressed a few bright remarks to her about an extremely homely pup, sprawling about at the end of a leather leash, attached to the girl's arm.

When the salesgirl spoke Mrs. Coolidge's name, the girl grew embarrassed. Not so the pup, who responded enthusiastically to the caresses of this friendly lady, by jumping on her suit and licking her gloves. Mrs. Coolidge remarked the dog was an aristocrat of some sort.

The shopping tour was ended and Mrs. Coolidge stepped buoyantly off towards the White House, the shoes and hose under her arm. I wondered if a bit later the shoes did not bring forth an exclamation of approval and delight from the president. They were not the most expensive offered, but they assuredly were smart.

evening in the Methodist church for the benefit of the Methodist Sunday School. No doubt the attendance will be large as the concert each year is a treat anticipated with great pleasure.

LUNCHEON—Fish timbales, lettuce sandwiches, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER—Beef à la mode, rice, potatoes, creamed cauliflower, stuffed prune salad, whole wheat rolls, cream puffs, milk, coffee.

The fish timbales are planned to use up any fish that may have been left from dinner the night before, however if left-over fish is not at hand any canned fish may be used to advantage.

Fish Timbales.
One cup cold fish, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup stale bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg, salt and pepper.

Melt butter, add bread crumbs and milk and cook until smooth, stirring constantly. Add fish, which has been marinating in lemon juice while making the paste. Season with salt and pepper and add egg well beaten with 1 tablespoon cold water. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Turn into buttered individual molds making them about two-thirds full of the mixture. Place in pan of hot water, cover with heavy buttered paper and bake 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Remove from molds and serve surrounded by egg sauce, creamed celery or tomato sauce.

At 2 o'clock Thursday at the parsonage to the Immanuel Lutheran church a young Dixon couple were married. Rev. A. G. Suechting, pastor of the church, officiated at the simple but impressive wedding of Miss Caroline Fishback and Harold Bay, both of this city. Miss Louise Fishback attended the young couple and Mrs. Suechting was a witness also. The bride wore a pretty gown in tan color silk, and her bridesmaid wore a pretty brown silk, both wearing hats harmonizing and completing their costumes. The bridegroom is employed in the Reynolds factory. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bay have many friends here who wish them every happiness. They will live at 701 N. Ottawa avenue.

TAX REDUCTION FURY.

As if there were not enough matters of consequence to occupy the attention of the United States senate during the month that remains for this congress, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi has undertaken to bring in the question of tax reduction.

Only a little knowledge of congressional conduct will tell one that to begin consideration of any kind of a revenue measure at this late date would be hopeless and that anyone who advocates it is promoting resolutions that are empty.

The fact that revenue measures must originate in the house of representatives did not deter the senator, who was bent upon a vote in the senate on the principle of tax reduction, which meant nothing even if they all should vote for it or all should vote against it or divide on party lines, because there is no time for such legislation in the period left.

Before congress convened President Coolidge indicated that he would favor a refund proportionate to the taxes paid last year. He felt safe in dealing with the sum on hand, but not satisfied that the present law will render a surplus in the event of less prosperity than was experienced during the preceding twelve months. He indicated clearly his opinion that the law should have two years' trial.

Knowing well that a revenue bill would preclude needed legislation in the short term, the democrats pressed for reduction of corporation taxes, a thing they had consistently opposed when Secretary Mellon set forth the theory that tax reduction would stimulate business and increase revenues.

The president's suggestion was not approved by many congressmen, who asserted that in the case of many persons the tax had been passed on and collected from the consumer and that a refund would be a donation from which the person who paid would receive no benefit. Mr. Coolidge did not urge the matter further.

It was then apparent that the surplus would be applied to the national debt, a procedure generally satisfactory. The debt must be paid, and the reduction to the amount of the surplus reduces the interest accordingly. The method is sound. If we reduce debt while we prosper we will not be burdened so greatly when there is a depression. If we reduce the interest while we have the money to pay, we shall not have to pay it when we do not have the income to meet it.

IF ADVERTISING SHOULD CEASE.

William Allen White, the Kansas editor, recently told the New York Advertising Club that if advertising should cease "the slow decay and ultimate collapse of the entire world would follow."

Strong words, but White means what he says. Advertising is so closely linked with the things that we buy as to become a very integral part of our commerce and culture, as well as a source of information and advice.

Advertising is the greatest help a sound product could have. At the same time the faulty product falls by the same medium.

With competition, of course there are bound to be evils—the evils of untruth and exaggeration. But these are after all, evils of the system and not advertising. The system itself is the source of the advertising, and advertising helps the system to flourish.

Competition destroys the undesirable and advertising helps in that process, speeding up the elimination of what is unfit.

America is leading the world in inventions, says a Boston professor. It's true. But there's still room at the top for the man who will devise a zipper for men's vests. . . . We have plenty of loud speakers, but very few soft ones. . . . You can send a photograph by telephone, but a fortune awaits the man who patents a method to make people look pleasant and be natural while it's being taken. . . . And one of these days when Mr. Maxim has a little time on his hands, why doesn't he turn his attention to the saxophone?

Great decrease in crime is anticipated in Ohio. The penitentiary is so crowded that no more prisoners may be admitted.

It won't be long now until our stage and screen Apollos will be acknowledging from every billboard that they "love to see a woman smoke a cigaret."

Too many love affairs are taken to court instead of to heart.

1927 echo of Davy Crockett's famous maxim: "Be sure you're tight; then go ahead."

Three hundred and seventy-eight robbers already have been seen in Chicago this year.

Harvard accuses the Princeton football players of biting the necks of the crimson lads. And Cambridge doesn't look like Hollywood, either.

A thousand persons were struck by bicycles in London in a recent month. These newfangled contraptions are making the streets unsafe.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The alligator traveled slow, but really very funny as they all tore down the beach. The Tynmites all were scared to death, the running made them short of breath, but even so, they managed to keep safely out of reach.

Said Scouty, "Say, what shall we do? In just a moment I'll be through. I cannot keep this pace up for I'm growing very weak." But not a Tyn answered him. They held their breath to keep in trim, or may be not another one had strength enough to speak.

Woe Clowny dashed up to the lead by putting on a bit more speed. He headed for the beach line where he thought the sand was sound. And then he found how wrong he was. The race was harder now, because the sand was rather mushy and much softer than the ground.

Course Clowny saw that he was wrong. His little feet would drag along, and now the alligator seemed much closer than before. And so he hurried back again, up near a clump of trees and then he panted to the others, "Gee, I just can't run much more."

"Hurrah!" said Coppy, full of glee. "I'll save you all. Just follow me." And in a moment he had reached a palm tree, near at hand. "We'll shimmy up this tree," he said. "I guess we're far enough ahead." And then the bunch all scrambled up the trunk to beat the band.

As soon as they had left the ground, a cocoon or two was found and Clowny pulled one loose and said "I hope my aim is right." He hurled it down and heard a smack. It hit the alligator's back, and then the lanky creeping thing just crept right out of sight.

(The Tynmites have fun with an ostrich in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

I loathe him!

"Cherry, you must talk to me," Faith commanded her sternly. "Tell me one thing. Was—the marriage—could it be annulled?"

"You mean," Cherry caught her up bravely, but her golden eyes glanced away and her cheeks crimsoned, "you mean am I truly his wife? The answer is yes. I can't ask for an annulment. But afterwards—" her voice faltered, almost died away. "He—he sickened me with him, with marriage with all men. Faith," she cried with sudden desperate need to unburden her heart, "he spent three hours before dawn telling me of all the girls and women he'd possessed. He—he bragged of his conquests, described them

"Don't mention his name to me!" Cherry cried sharply, so that the matron in the distant corner of the room looked up inquiringly. "Not so loud, darling!" Faith put her arms about her sister. "I wish you would tell me about you—and Chris. Forgive me, dear, but I can't just ignore the fact that you are married."

"I wish to God I could!" Cherry whispered with passionate vehemence. "You know, Faith, I'm almost glad I'm shut up in jail, so I—I won't have to live with Chris. But I wouldn't—anyway, I—I'd have left him the day after the ceremony if we hadn't been arrested."

"But Cherry, darling, what is the matter?" Faith pleaded. "You were so much in love with Chris Wiley. I wasn't in love with him! I wasn't in love with anybody! I found that out quickly enough—that first night with Chris. He—oh, I don't talk about it! Not even to you, Faith. Don't ask me. I hate him!"

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is a guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

to me, goated over them. He—he told me the only reason he'd married me was because I—I wouldn't give in to him. Oh, Faith, I—I wanted to kill him! Oh, that awful word—'kill'! I'll never be able to say it lightly again, as people do. But he deserves everything he's suffering now, if he is suffering, and I hope he is! I told him I'd leave him the next day and he laughed at me! He said I was too crazy about him to leave him, and that I couldn't get a divorce on those grounds—because with him because he'd been—wicked before he married me. But I won't live with him again, ever, and I won't take any money from him now—not if I were starving. But I can't starve here," she ended bitterly. "The county furnishes me free board and lodging, though I can't say much for the table they set. You see now, don't you, darling, why I can't buy any new clothes? I've taken enough from you and Dad as it is. I don't know how you're going to get along. And you mustn't bring me any more food, or have my meals sent in. I deserve to eat prison fare for the rest of my life, for having been so selfish."

"You mustn't give way like this," Faith admonished her almost sharply. "I'm going to get you the clothes Churchill says you'll have to have, I'll make them myself. Churchill will probably like that idea—make capital of it in the newspapers—that your dresses are home-made, because the Lane family hasn't any money for ready-made clothes. May I sell your mink coat, dear?"

"Of course!" Cherry brightened instantly. "I'd forgotten that I have a marvelous trousseau that cost thousands of dollars! And not a garment worn! Maybe you can find a bride—but I keep forgetting what I am now!" she laughed bitterly. "No bride would wear clothes made for Cherry Lane, the murderess!"

TOMORROW: Faith and Cherry plan Cherry's murder trial trousseau.

Cured His Rupture

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to say but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Allen, Carpenter, 121 N. Marcus Avenue, Mahaniquan, N. J. Better get out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may have a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

Your Money's Worth—Always

Not now and then, but always do Ford car buyers get their money's worth.

Remember that Ford has been building cars for more than 20 years. In that time over 14,000,000 Fords have gone into owners' hands. And every one has been a good car. There is no other record to equal this.

Steady improvement in appearance and better manufacture have made today's Ford more than ever the world's best "money's worth" in automobiles—a good car, to be counted on every day.

"QUALITY THAT OUTLIVES THE PRICE"

SPORTS OF SORTS McGRAW AND MACK BOOST PAYROLLS OF THEIR TEAMS

Most Expensive Teams of Their Careers
Coming Season

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—Carrying payrolls estimated to total half a million dollars, Connie Mack and John McGraw will launch the most expensive baseball craft in their long careers as managers on rival pennant cruises this year.

With the acquisitions of Wheat, Cobb and Collins by the Athletics, baseball men today figured that Mack's salary and bonus bill for the season would reach the quarter million dollar mark. The Giants' salary total likewise has been sent skyrocketing by the additions of Rogers Hornsby, Eddie Roush and Burleigh Grimes.

Cutting of the purse strings of the New York and Philadelphia clubs has led to an unprecedented series of trades and purchases. In Hornsby, the Giants added a $40,000 star to their payroll, while yesterday they mailed a three year contract to Roush which is said to call for $19,000 a season.

The signing of Wheat, Cobb and Collins is estimated to have added $125,000 to the season's salary bill of the Athletics. Mack also paid fancy prices for the new infield talent from the minor leagues in landing Dudley Evans, Kansas City and Joe Boley Baltimore.

Cochran Leads Hoppe in First Block of Tourney

Boston, Feb. 11—(AP)—Welker Cochran of Los Angeles, leading by 600 to 234 tonight, will resume his attempt to wrest the 18.2 billiard crown from Willie Hoppe.

In the first block of a 1500 point match, Cochran persistently led the champion last night, but neither man was at his best.

Twenty three innings consumed nearly four hours and produced the unimpressive average of 22.16-22 and 15.4-22 for challenger and champion respectively.

It was Hoppe's first defense of the title which he regained early in the year from Hagenbacher.

MUSHYCALLAHAN SAVED TITLE BY HIS INSISTENCE

Made Conqueror Fight
Over Weight Limit
Last Evening

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—Mushy Callahan's foresight in insisting that Spug Meyers of Pocatello, Idaho, enter the ring weighing over the junior welterweight limit of 140 pounds has preserved his title for him. Callahan came forth from the Coliseum ring last night still wearing his crown, but otherwise badly battered.

Callahan, who fights out of Los Angeles, felled Meyers in the fifth round, but his failure to follow up his advantage was costly. Meyers was the aggressor in each of the ten rounds, peppering away with both hands whereas Mushy's menace was a crushing right which Meyers avoided studiously after the nearly fatal fifth.

My Sullivan of St. Paul, who boxes craftily after the school of those other St. Paul Irishmen, the Gibbons brothers, scored a technical knockout over Len Malody of Laramie, Wyoming, in the last round of a six round preliminary.

Cueists Resume Tourney After a Day of Recess

Chicago, Feb. 11—(AP)—The cueists competing in the national three cushion billiards championship picked up today where they left off Wednesday, with the title apparently resting between Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, the champion, and Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, former title holder. Each has five victories and no defeats.

Based on present standings and tournament form of the participants, it seems probable that the championship will be decided Monday night when Reisel meets Kieckhefer. Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, however, is close behind the leaders with five victories and one defeat. In the event of a triple tie a round robin would be played Tuesday.

Reisel engages Tif Denton of Kansas City in the outstanding match today with Kieckhefer playing Allan Hall of St. Louis who has dropped three of his seven games.

Huggins is Confident Ruth Will Sign on Line

New York, Feb. 11—(AP)—Miller Huggins packed his grips to return to the Yankees today.

to Florida today with the confident prediction that "Babe Ruth will be back in his old place with the Yankees when the season opens."

In contrast to the doubtful head shakings of Business Manager Ed Barrow, and the silence of President Jacob Ruppert, the smiling pilot of the American League champions indicated he found no cause for worry in Babe's threat to quit baseball if the club does not increase his salary beyond the $52,000 he has received annually for the last 5 years.

HARMON NEWS

Harmon—The funeral of Charles Ruxton was held at the late home in Deer Grove last Friday. Rev. I. A. Woodrow of the Tampico Methodist church conducted the rites. It had been planned to bury the body in Tampico overland, but the almost impassable condition of the roads made it necessary to take the train. He is survived by his wife and son Harry and one daughter, Mrs. Ruth O'Connell, wife of a number of other sons—Baptist church.

attended by the bride's sister, Miss Frances Tyne as bridesmaid and the groom's brother Ervin Henry as best man. The bride was beautifully gowned in peach colored tulle, nor gloves, hat and other accessories matching. The bridesmaid wore a charming frock of tan tulle, her hat matching her gown. Both bride and bridesmaid carried bouquets of sweet peas. While the bride party approached the altar, Mrs. Wayne Smith played the "Bells" from Lohengrin, and also accompanied Miss Helen Parker. The wedding song "Oh Promise Me" "I Love You Truly" and "Ave Maria." Mr. and Mrs. Henry enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the Nachusa Tavern and then they left on a wedding journey in automobile, the destination unknown. They are both highly respected young folks who have the best wishes of a long and happy wedded life of their many friends.

Mrs. Will Morrissey of Walton spent a few days here with her daughter Mrs. Edwin Friel, and nephew Mrs. Ruth O'Connell and daughter.

Miss Jane spent a few days in Deer Grove last week, and attended the funeral of her father.

Edward Kierwin motored here from Dixon Wednesday and visited friends. The roads are almost impassable. Many cars got stuck Saturday and Sunday and had to be pulled out. Many people have gone back to "Old Dobbin" hitched to wagons and surreys and some are coming to town horse back to do their shopping.

Nice.—(AP)—Hundreds of acres of the finest hillside vineyards on the Riviera were destroyed by the recent landslides. Following the Roquebilliere disaster, which cost 24 lives, three other mountain sides have fallen into the Vesubie Valley, burying the vineyards deep under piles of rock and sandy soil. The damage to the land is irreparable.

able since the upper soil left on the mountain sides is a soft, sticky clay. It is claimed that deforestation of the mountains is responsible for the landslides.

THE BLACK DIAMOND EXPRESS

Copyright by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"The Black Diamond Express," starring Monte Blue, is Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
John Ballard rises from poverty to District Attorneyship. He loves Viola Ruskin, but Fate weeds her to Hardin, an old chum, now President of a great railroad and putty to Jordan, money king. Jordan's greed causes a grave wreck. John grins purposes to put the responsible officials in jail. Phil learns Viola loves John, and threatens exposure of a college brawl in which John killed a man to protect Phil. John refuses to be coerced. John and Viola confess their hopeless love to one another. The wreck trial opens in another county seat.

One afternoon he left his office early, and, instead of going at once to Philadelphia, he drove to take him to his house, since he had need of a bag that was in his room there. And while he was in his room his telephone rang.
"Long distance call for Mr. Hardin," he heard, when he answered.
"Transferred from your office, Mr. Hardin. Party is calling from Newton and wants you to pay for the call. Is that all right?"
"All right—yes. Hurry it up. What's all," he said, impatiently.
"Here you are—go ahead," said the operator.
A thin, strange voice sounded in his ear.
"Mr. Hardin? Mr. Philip Hardin?"
"Yes—yes. Who is this?"
"You wouldn't know the name, Mr. Hardin. I'm one who saw you a long time ago. One night in a

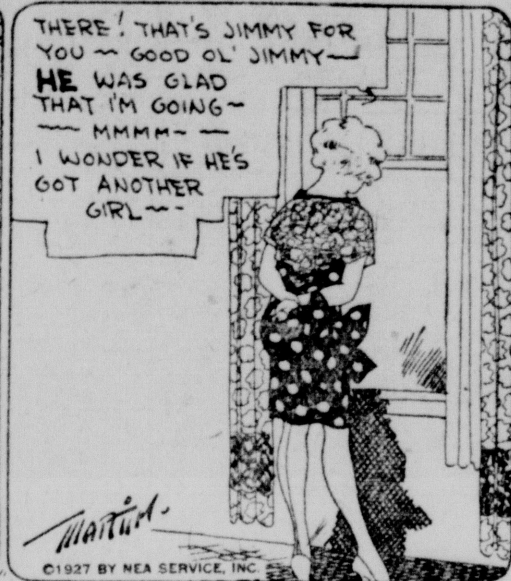

"There she is, boss," he said.
place where the lights went out. Do you know what I mean?"
Phil was trembling with excitement.
"Yes! Yes—go on!"
"I was there, and so was another party. This other party's on his way to see you now. He gets in on the train that gets to your city at 4:45. He's going straight to your office. You'd better arrange to see him."
"Why should I?"
"You'll be sorry if you don't. Do you know who I mean by B?"
"Yes. You mean—"
"Careful, boss. Telephones aren't so awful private, remember. This party carries a letter it'll be a good thing for you to have—see? You can have it—at a price. He'll tell you all about that. Name of Smith, this party. Better arrange to see him."
"How much do you want?"
"He'll tell you. And if you don't want to buy there are those who will. This party, name of Smith, is going to try to see you first. Then, if he can't, he's going to see B. A word to the wise—eh, boss? And a letter in the hand's worth two in the B—what?"
"Yes—but—"
There was a click in his ear. And when, frantically, he called back to Central he got only:
"The party you were talking with has hung up."
He could only wait—wait and telephone orders to his office that if a man named Smith came, asking for him, he was to be sent to his home immediately. But his waiting was done in a fever of impatience, and, as five o'clock approached, with an eye constantly on the clock.
At last there was a ring at the front door. He answered it himself; flung open the door and saw a man standing on the step—an unimposing man, in shabby clothes, with a three-day stubble of black beard on his chin.
"I want to see Mr. Hardin—Mr. Philip Hardin," said the stranger.
"Come in!" said Phil. "I'm Mr. Hardin."
"Got to have proof of that, boss," said the other.
Angrily, impatiently, Phil turned out the contents of a pocket—letters, an automobile license card, identification enough to enable him to cash a check in a strange bank. The other nodded.
"Kay O, boss," he said, in a horse voice that spoke of much whiskey drinking. "Name of Smith. Maybe you heard by 'phone I was coming?"

"I did. Yes. What is it you want? Let me see this letter you brought!"
"Not so fast, boss. Not quite so fast."
Deliberately, and with painstaking care, Smith took a packet, wrapped in oil silk, from his pocket. From it he took two or three folded papers. One of these he tapped, significantly.
"There she is, boss," he said. "The original, dyed in the wool, genuine, itself and not a moving picture, letter! And there is a copy!"
Phil snatched at the crudely typed sheet.
"Then the lights went out, and everyone took a crack at everyone else," he read. "I got beamed on the conk, and I beat it while the beating was good. And here's the joke. They was a lot of collegers there, and one of them thought he'd killed me! And I was willing, because Pete had it in for me and was going to frame me and have me sent up. So I let them go on thinking they'd done me in, and Harry and Buck told Pete they'd pulled me out and buried me, quiet, so there wouldn't be no trouble, that might get the joint pulled. But I get a laugh whenever I think of that collegier thinking he'd croaked me, and being scared pink every time he seen a bull looking at him."
When he had finished reading Phil stared at Smith.
"Well!" he said. "What good does this do me?"
"Well, that's to be figured out, ain't it, boss? Suppose we think a bit first about what harm it could do you. Suppose I give this letter to John Ballard?"
Phil jumped. Their last chance gone—the one hold they had on Ballard broken! He stared.
"On the other hand—suppose you take this letter—first slipping me five thousand berries—we don't want much—just five grand. What's to stop you from putting it on the fire?"
"I see," Phil drew a long breath. "But—even so—that doesn't bring us any nearer to proving that Ballard did kill a man."
"You think of everything, don't you, boss?" said Smith, with pretended admiration. "Well, suppose I said that for another five grand—and that's only ten in all me and a friend of mine would go on the stand and swear we seen this Ballard croak Rudy, and that was the guys what buried him afterward?"
"Suppose Johnson appeared and proved you were lying?"
"He won't—never fear. He's dead now, if he wasn't then. No. It's safe enough, boss. It's an open and shut case for you."
Phil hesitated. Then, abruptly, he nodded.
"Five thousand now—five thousand if and when you have to testify against Ballard?"
"Fair enough. For five grand now I slip you the letter. For five grand more me and my pal go into court whenever you give the word."
"All right," Phil reached for his checkbook. Smith threw up his hands.
"No checks, boss! Gosh—what're thinkin' about? We don't either one of us want anyone knowing we've had this little talk, do we?"
"Right!" said Phil. "Wait—I can get the cash. Wait a minute. I'll send for it."
He went outside and called his butler. Half an hour later the man was back from the office of the N. Y. and C. V. R. R., with fifty crisp, new hundred dollar bills. Phil counted them out; Smith handed him the original letter, gray, faded, almost—but not quite—undecipherable.
"All right, boss," said Smith. "Now, here's my address—this is how you reach me when you want me and my pal for this other little matter."
"Very well," said Phil. A shudder of disgust shook him as he looked at Smith. To think that he, Philip Hardin, had sunk to trafficking with so low and depraved a creature as this! However—he had no choice. Self preservation, he reminded himself, was, after all, nature's first law. "Be off, now. I'm late in starting, as it is."
"I ain't any more anxious to be seen with you than what you are to have any ink with me," said Smith. "A pretty poor lot we are, the two of us, if you ask me."
And he turned, with a contemptuous look at Phil, and left the room and the house.
Phil had received him in a small room, downstairs, used for just such casual interviews with those who called at the house on business. A gas log was in the fireplace of this room, and Phil stooped, now, and lit the gas. Then he rose, and turned to take the letter he had laid on a table, meaning to burn it without delay. What he saw made him give back a step. (To be continued)

Beer and Wurst Shown in Stresemann Cartoon

Geneva—(AP)—The traditional combination of beer, frankfurters and two bread is personified for League of Nations hangers-on by Gustav Stresemann, the German foreign minister.
The only Bavarian bar in Geneva has hung up a caricature by a Hungarian cartoonist of the German statesman seated at a beer hall table smoking a black cigar in his famous cigar holder, and with a plate of wurst, thick slices of rye bread and a stein of Pilsener before him.
Dr. Stresemann seeks out this bar about midnight when conferences are over. Though invariably surrounded by a horde of French and German newspapermen, it is a standing rule that political discussions must be drowned in foaming suds.

Remember your Evening Telegraph and Chicago paper before expiration date in order not to miss any copies.
Wilhelmshaven, North Sea port once harboring the largest garrison in Germany, has only 70,000 inhabitants left to its pre-war population of 120,000.

MAYOR FOGLE OF ROCHELLE SEEKS RETURN TO POST

To Oppose Former Mayor W. B. McHenry at Primary Election

Rochelle.—Mayor Albert Fogle has announced his intention of becoming a candidate for mayor in the coming primaries. In opposition to Attorney W. B. McHenry, the only other candidate who has filed thus far. Feb. 21 is the last date for filing petitions. Mayor Fogle was elected four years ago as commissioner of finance in the city council, but he was appointed to the executive post on the death of Mayor Antone in December. His petitions were being circulated by friends. If there are no other candidates in the mayoralty contest, the primary on March 8 will be a tame affair as two candidates must be nominated. Friends of both candidates in this case would center their activities on the election, it is said, which is set for the third Tuesday in April. Mr. Fogle, because of his admirable record on the city council, is regarded as a formidable candidate. Petitions for candidates for commissioner were also circulated by friends of Ross Hunter, Theodore Schade, Daniel Taylor and J. E. Herrmann. It was also indicated that Curtis E. Lazier, present health commissioner, would file for re-nomination. Whether other members of the council would file could not be learned today.

New Goodyear Value
for Ford and Chevrolet Owners

Goodyear has developed a Balloon Tire tread which matches the Goodyear Balloon carcass of Supertwist Cord. It is the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread scientifically redesigned for Balloon Tire use.

The sharp-edged, Diamond-shaped blocks are placed in a semi-flat design. These blocks grip the road and retain their usefulness longer than any tread heretofore offered.

Long, slow, even tread wear is assured. "Cupping" and uneven wear, so common to many Balloon Tires, are practically eliminated.

Come in and see this new Goodyear Balloon Tire.
